Evaluation of the applicant's scholarly/artistic qualifications

Doc. MUDr. Bohuslav Kianička, Ph.D. has been working since 2008 in the position of chief physician of the Gastroenterology Department of II. Internal Clinic of the University Hospital at St. Anna in Brno and since 2017 he has been an associate professor of internal medicine of II. Internal Clinic of the Faculty of Medicine of Masaryk University.

In his scientific work, he has long been dealing with the issue of digestive endoscopy in its entirety, and especially pancreatobilliary endoscopy in patients with postoperative changes in the anatomy of the digestive tract. He also devoted his habilitation thesis to this topic: "Endoscopic diagnosis and therapy of pancreatobilliary diseases in people with altered gastrointestinal anatomy after surgery".

He published the results of his observations not only in domestic but also in foreign journals. He is the author or co-author of 144 publications, of which 14 are works with IF, of which 4 are first-author publications and 2 are correspondent authors. The current cumulative IF is 37,567 and the Hirsch index is 6. The total number of citations to his work is 205 (WOS + Scopus). A total of 75 times were cited in the WOS database, of which 22 times as the first author. 11 times his first work on the topic of the habilitation thesis was cited: "ERCP using a single balloon enteroscope in patients with Roux-Y-hepaticojejunoanastomosis". Most other journal works are excerpted in international bibliographic databases.

Doc. Kianička is the researcher of the research and development program project with targeted support of IGA NK 7339-3 entitled: "Perspective randomized multicenter study of the effect of endoscopic treatment of acute biliary pancreatitis". The final report from this research was included in category A, and was included among the projects that will be presented in the tender for the Award of the Ministry of Health. He is also the solver of several MUNI program projects.

Conclusion: The applicant's scholarly/artistic capabilities meet the requirements expected of applicants participating in a professor appointment procedure in the field of Internal Medicine.

Evaluation of the applicant's pedagogical experience

Doc. MUDr. Bohuslav Kianička, Ph.D. has been working as a lecturer at the Faculty of Medicine of Masaryk University since 2011. He actively participates in the teaching of medics of the Medical Faculty of Masaryk University in the framework of II. Internal Clinic of the University Hospital at St. Anna in Brno. He is a member of the examination commission for state examinations in internal medicine, a supervisor of individual works of postgraduate students and doctoral students in the field of internal medicine; currently 4 doctoral theses, 1 of which is successfully defended (MUDr. Jan Novák, Ph.D., year 2020).

In addition, he is a lecturer at the National Center for Nursing for Non-Medical Health Sciences (NCO NZO) in the field of gastroenterology, a trainer and examiner of specialization courses for nurses specializing in gastroenterology and digestive endoscopy methods, licensed for medical procedures (esophagogastroduodenoscopy, colonoscopy, ERCP, endosonography and other specialized endoscopic methods).

He is also a supervisor in the postgraduate specialization study of physicians before the 1st degree attestation in internal medicine, a guarantor for the field of gastroenterology at the University Hospital at St. Anna in Brno, guarantor of specialization education in the field of gastroenterology at the Faculty of Medicine, Masaryk University, member of the branch council for internal medicine at the Faculty of Medicine, Masaryk University, member of the attestation commission in the field of gastroenterology.

He is the author of 14 professional chapters or educational texts in professional peer-reviewed textbooks.

Conclusion: The applicant's pedagogical capabilities meet the requirements expected of applicants participating in a professor appointment procedure in the field of Internal Medicine.

Evaluation Board Decision on the Nomination for Appointment to Professor

Evaluation of the applicant as a respected and recognized scholarly or artistic figure in a given field

Doc. Kianička is a widely educated and highly erudite internist and gastroenterologist, with specialized qualifications and a primary license, both in the field of internal medicine and gastroenterology. He is also an excellent endoscopist, mastering a wide range of diagnostic and therapeutic digestive endoscopies. In particular, therapeutic endoscopy of pancreatobilliary diseases is at a high level.

An important feature in the work of doc. MUDr. Bohuslav Kianička, Ph.D. is the ability to cooperate with other internal or surgical disciplines. Doc. Kianička is a member of professional societies: Czech Gastroenterological Society, Czech Hepatological Society, Czech Transplantation Society, Czech Internal Medicine Society. The above list of scientific and pedagogical activities, as well as its response in the professional community are shown by doc. Kianička as a mature and respected personality.
